Into the future | Returning to Japan

“Come see the future.” Japan, the land of new technology, calls to the world. Soon, we will be going to see the future. In fact, for the next 4 years we will be living in the future - at least your future.

It's time to return to Japan. On July 16, we will cross the international date line, skip half a day, and spend the next 4 years, enjoying Saturdays while you are still living Fridays!

The kids have grown considerably since we visited Mt. Fuji and took this picture a few years ago, but they still remember their friends in Japan and are anxious to get back. Of course, at the same time, we will all miss our friends and family in America.

The plan is to live in the mission office (north side of Tokyo metro area) for the first year as we lay the groundwork for a new church plant. We would certainly appreciate prayer for God's guidance regarding the future church plant.

Warmly,

David & Evangeline Kindervater
